STS-LBT

THE SCIENCE OF RELAXATION RESPONSE

Using scientific concepts related to relaxation response, and using a problem-solving approach, you will assess your own response to various relaxation and mindfulness techniques, and thus be better able to apply corrective actions to better manage your resilience and stress.

Designed for non-science students, this course will help you acquire the knowledge related to the basic scientific method and apply the scientific method to investigate your response to mindfulness and relaxation techniques. You will observe, question, research, form hypotheses and test your chosen hypothesis, through basic experimentation. You will then analyze your observations and data and report your results and conclusions. The impact of your actions will be tested through the methodical application of protocols.
